Learning Options to Fit Your Life

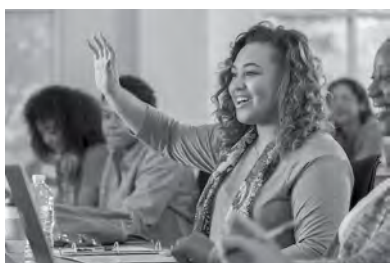

Live Online Classes :

These are classes where an online meeting is being used like an in-person classroom. Days and times for the meetings are specified, with online lectures being used as the primary way in which course content is being presented. These classes will either utilize Webex or Blackboard (with Blackboard Collaborate Ultra for class meetings). Information on your virtual classroom will come directly from your instructor via email.

Self-Paced Online Classes :

In these classes, content (lectures, readings, videos, etc.) is placed on a protected website (Blackboard, in most instances). Some self-paced classes may have occasional class meetings, though meetings are not the primary way in which content is being presented to you. Self-paced classes will have active instructor participation and deadlines even without live meetings. You will receive instructions for accessing the class materials prior to the start of classes via email.

In-Person Classes :

These classes meet in-person at the designated campus or offsite location. The room number and most up-to-date information is available on the course page at ce.harpercollege.edu. For information on prevention and resources related to COVID-19, please visit harpercollege.edu/advisory.

Blended Classes :

Blended classes use a combination of in-person and online meetings. Information on the class structure will come directly from the instructor.

Our online classes are labeled as “Live Online” and “Self-Paced Online”, so that you know how each class will be conducted. In-Person classes are indicated by a campus (or offsite) location. When you register for a class, your instructor will send an email to you a few days before the start of the class with information about how the class will be taught and, if applicable, login information.

We know our print catalog is convenient but as always, the most complete and current information is online at ce.harpercollege.edu.

Creating Art through Unconventional Photography

LIVE

A well-known phrase is 'a picture is worth a thousand words.' But what does that mean? And how can we use photography to make creative art photographs? Every environment and every moment offers infinite possibilities for creating compelling artistic photographs. The creative process requires visualization, connecting with our views of the world, and the art of seeing photographically. This course will cultivate our ways of seeing the world through experimentation, practice, and an overview of the history of art photography. The final product will be that each student will have at least one matted and framed image finished in the class.

Developing the Eye of the Photographer

LIVE

What does it mean to have an eye for photography? Is it something that comes naturally, or can you develop it through attention and direct experience? Besides from simply taking pictures, our way of seeing the world lets us recognize situations, composition, subject matter, light quality, patterns, shadows, textures, juxtapositions, moments in time, and we then put these elements together to create images that communicate something deep inside of us. To share with others our own distinct impression of the world. Completion of Beginning Photography and Intermediate Photography or equivalent knowledge is recommended prior to registration.

The African-American Roots of Country Music

The origins of country music reveal a cultural intermingling typical of immigrant-based countries. Though record companies overtly advertised music according to race in the early part of the 20th century, the roots of the music paint a different picture. In fact, there are as many African as Anglo-Celtic influences in what we call Country music. Cultural Anthropologist Scott Cashman will examine the music within the fertile cultural landscape of the American south in the 19th and early 20th centuries as you listen to both music played live and on video.

Sound Recording

Rock Band Production and Recording

Rock Band Production & Recording is a one-semester course to help musicians write and arrange songs and record demos. If you have a song but can't afford to make it sound professional, you'll work with our best musicians and sound experts to record the song in our cutting-edge studio. Our instructors are all passionate songwriters from all backgrounds, just like you. What distinguishes us from other music schools is that we have professional musicians, instructors, producers, and engineers at the pinnacle of their industry and know how to create the best-sounding Rock music demos. Rock demos should have the same sound quality as a major label album when adequately recorded. Therefore, when you send your songs to labels, publishers, TV, radio, or film, they will hear first-rate production; so, the better your demo sounds, the more likely it will be picked up. You music register for the course as individuals; not as a band. During the application process, you'll have the chance to answer some questions and enter the band information. If you're not part of a band, you'll be placed with other musicians to form one.

Wines of Spain: Galicia

Galicia may be the unique region of Spain (more like Ireland than the rest of the Iberian Peninsula). You will cover the sub-regions of Rias Baixas, Ribeiro, Ribera Sacra, Valdeorras and Monterrei. Its cool climate makes it a strong producer of white grapes led by Albarino. You will also experience Godello, Treixadura and Loureiro grapes. Red wines are present too though in significantly smaller quantities. In addition to tasting the wines, you will learn about grape varieties and their microclimates. Students must be aged 21+ to enroll.

Wines of Spain: Castilla Y Leon

Red wine is dominant in this Spanish region, which includes the sub-regions Toro, Rueda, Ribera del Duero, Arlanza, Bierzo, and Tierra de Leones. Tinto Fino is a leader in grapes but, like the other regions in Spain, there is an interesting variety of grapes in this region. In fact, you will get a strong introduction to the famous Tempranillo in this class. At Harper college we are a bit partial to this region not for its wine but because it is home to Europe's oldest University (Universidad de Salamanca) which has been teaching students since 1134.

Wines of Spain: Rioja, Navarra & Pais Vasco

In the north of Spain cluster 3 regions that produce some of the most important wine in Spain. The Rioja blend is probably the most famous of Spanish wines in America. Here you will again find Tempranillo. Finally, there is some value to be gained for the knowledge as Rioja is age worthy and yet not as famous or pricy as wine from Bordeaux and Burgundy. Spain is home to more wineries than any other country in the world and these three regions are a great place to start your appreciation.

Wines of Spain: Catalunya

We don't know how long Catalunya will be a region of Spain but we do know that it will always have its wonderful grapes led by the reds Garnacha and Carignan and the white Garnacha Blanca and Xarel-lo. That is not all that is in the region though. You will also find Tempranillo, Trepat, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Syrah for reds and Parellada and Macabeo that feature in the Spanish sparkling wine Cava.

Wines of Spain: Castilla-La Mancha, Madrid, Murcia, Valencia & Extremadura

La Mancha is the largest (and one of the oldest) delimited wine region in Europe. Very hot summers and cold winters produce dramatic climate variation, so it is a hardy grape that survives here. Airen is the most prevalent (it makes a fine brandy) but there are reds including Cencibel (local name for Tempranillo), Cabernet and Merlot though there are many others. Among the whites, you will find Chardonnay, Viognier, Macabeo, Torrontes and Verdejo. The reputation of quality in this area of Spain is on the rise.

Wines of Spain: Andalucia, Canary & Baleares Islands

The wines of the Canary and Baleares Islands can be hard to find in America but the reward can be significant. Reds include Callet, think Pinot Noir, and Manto Negro while Prensall Blanc is a local favorite. Some vines are as old as 300 years and never touched by the phylloxera plague. Meanwhile, Andalucia is the home of Sherry and other fortified wines.

Georgia O'Keeffe: Art Image Style

NEW!

The career of American artist Georgia O'Keeffe spans nearly 100 years. She was born on November 15, 1881, the spouse of the American photographer Alfred Stieglitz, and was one of the most influential modern artists of the 20th century. A recent exhibition at the Peabody Museum in Salem, Mass., was dedicated to this independent artist, who established herself as the female member of the Stieglitz circle of modern artists. The exhibition integrated 60 items of her wardrobe, many of which she designed, as she sought to create a style that spoke not only who she was, but treated an image of her person

Extending over 80 acres, the campus is a UNESCO World Heritage site and includes a large circular 'water dome' with 75 jets. Author and Chicago architectural tour guide, Jerome M. Was Frank Lloyd Wright the Greatest American Architect of the 20th Century

NEW!

This presentation will focus on the life and long career of the man who many believe was the greatest American architect of the 20th century. Frank Lloyd Wright was born in Spring Green, Wisconsin, on June 8, 1867 and arrived in Chicago as a young man who had studies at the U. of Wisconsin for 3 years only. He studied architecture under Louis Sullivan, who specialized on designing tall buildings. Frank's original aesthetic and singular philosophy applied mostly to residential homes. This placed him on the forefront on a new direction he named Prairie Houses. Many were built in Oak Park. Despite personal tragedies, his successful career spanned nearly 70 years.

Franklin D. Roosevelt: A Fireside Chat

NEW!

The news headlines of today call forth the truth of FDR's words of 80 years ago. He speaks out against religious and racial intolerance, against the voices of deceit and despair. He speaks for the people, for the well-being of our neighbors and for a government that is the embodiment of human charity. FDR reads Depression era letters from citizens asking for help, the most touching from children, and recounts the New Deal programs designed to help in the days when the people mattered. The president reminds us of all the challenges of WWII and the many ifs facing the nation in 1942. When skeptics challenged his war production goals, FDR replied, Let no man say it cannot be done; it must be done, and we have undertaken to do it. At the conclusion of his Fireside Chat the President invites audience questions. *This presentation is a character portrayal.

What is the problem with Thomas Jefferson? This lecture explores the contradictions in Jefferson's life and possible ways to reconcile them. It illustrates the deep conflict between American slavery and American freedom.

Camp Douglas and the Civil War in Chicago

NEW!

Chicago was once the site of one of the largest prison camps for Confederate soldiers. Located in what is now the Bronzeville neighborhood but in 1861 was the outskirts of the city, Camp Douglas served as a training site for Union soldiers, a prison camp Rebel soldiers, and weirdly, a detention camp for Union soldiers captured by the Confederacy. Though long vanished now, it made its mark on the city in surprising ways.

Chicago Movie Palaces

NEW!

Remember when going to the movies was an adventure? For children it may have been for the latest chapter of an action serial at a Saturday matinee. For adults, it was a double-feature brimming with suspense, music, or comedy. It all happened at the neighborhood theater, which for the lucky ones, meant sitting in the courtyard of a real or imaginary palace with stars in the ceiling and fountains and statuary throughout. Your presenter, an usher at 3 theaters, will transport you into Chicago's legendary movie places, including the Paradise, Granada, Southtown, Avalon, and the great Chicago Theater.

Suzuki Method Violin Group Class

Dr. Suzuki developed a unique approach based on his genuine belief that musical ability is not an inborn talent but an ability that can be developed. Any adequately trained child can develop musical ability, just as all children develop the ability to speak their mother tongue. Therefore, the potential of every child is unlimited. The method will use the child's listening ability, motivation, repetition, and step by step mastery to enhance students' musicality and technique. The Suzuki method violin group class is open to all ages studying violin. It offers an excellent platform for encouraging young and new musicians to improve their musicianship while making new friends. Instructed by Dr. Chia-Ying Hsu, the ensemble performs an original Suzuki repertoire. The program is energetic, diverse, and focuses on a collaborative atmosphere that emphasizes teamwork. The Suzuki Method Class performs at Harper College's Performing Arts Center. Beginners are especially welcome.
